Does Your Business Need Pre-Employment Screening?

The success of your business might depend on it.

● Why do I need it?

To make informed decisions & protect your business you need the right information. Using pre-employment screening during your hiring process helps you:

- Make fair, informed decisions and hire qualified candidates
- Protect your organization against liability claims
- Comply with federal, state, local, and industry regulations

Drug users typically function at only 65% of their potential, meaning they're not always thinking clearly and may make mistakes that could hurt employees and your business. Stop the problem before it even starts with pre-employment drug testing services.

● What is it?

Choose from 100+ pre-employment screening and background check services - everything you need in one place. Choose from our pre-built packages to save time, or design custom packages to fit your specific needs. All screenings are paperless and accessed through a secured online portal.
